Did You Know?

July was first called Quintilis, which meant "fifth month". When Julius Caesar changed the Roman calendar in 44 B.C. it became the seventh month of the year, Quintilis, the month in which he had been born, was renamed Julius (July) in his honor. However, the name change was not made legal until four months later, when the appearance of a comet was taken to be a sign of Caesar's power.

Independence Day

The Fourth of July- also known as Independence Day- has been a federal holiday in the United States since 1941, but the tradition of Independence Day celebrations goes back to the 18th century and the American Revolution. N July 2nd, 1776, the Continental Congress voted in favor of independence, and two days later delegates from the 13 colonies adopted the Declaration of Independence, a historic document drafted by Thomas Jefferson. From 1776 to the present day, July 4th has been celebrated as the birth of American independence, with festivities ranging from fireworks, parades, and concerts to more casual family gatherings and barbeques. The fourth of July 2025 is on Friday, July 4th, 2025. The tradition of setting off fireworks on the 4th of July began in Philadelphia on July 4, 1777, during the first organized celebration of Independence Day. Ship's cannon fired a 13-gun salute in honor of the 13 colonies. That same night, the Sons of Liberty set off fireworks over Boston Common.

Did you know that John Adams believes that the 2nd of July was the correct date on which to celebrate the birth of American independence, and would repeatedly turn down invitations to appear at July 4th events in protest? Adams and Thomas Jefferson both died on July 4, 1826-the 50th anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence.
